

America Saves Week is February 19 – February 26, 2012.
Go to www.americasavesweek.org and learn how you and your organization can participate.

Save the date: Brigitte Madrian's seminar, December 13, 3.30-5.00 PM, GWSB

The following comes from ASEC Partner, Federal Reserve Board and the George Washington University School of Business.

The next seminar of the Financial Literacy Seminar Series (FLSS) will be given by Brigitte Madrian, from Harvard University, on December 13, 2011. The seminar will be held at the George Washington University School of Business, Suite 651, beginning at 3:30 PM. Prof. Madrian will present her paper "Default stickiness among low-income individuals." Professor Madrian was just awarded the 2011 TIAA-CREF Paul A. Samuelson award for outstanding scholarly writing on lifelong financial security. To celebrate her award and also to exchange holiday greetings, we will hold a special reception after the seminar from 5 to 6.30 PM with champagne and a small gift to all participants.

PLEASE CLICK HERE TO RSVP or send an e-mail to finlitseries@gmail.com.

The FLSS is a joint initiative of the George Washington University School of Business (GWSB) and the Federal Reserve Board (FRB). Additional information about the seminar series and information on how to reach GWSB is provided on our web site at <http://business.gwu.edu/flss/>.

Please contact us at finlitseries@gmail.com if you have questions about the FLSS. We look forward to seeing you on December 13.

Best,

The Steering Committee

Annamaria Lusardi, GWSB; John Sabelhaus, FRB; Claudia Sahm, FRB; Joanne Hsu, FRB; Alex Kaufman, FRB; Geng Li, FRB; Ellen Merry, FRB