Webinar Series: Health Reform: Provisions for Family and Community Decisions -- June 17, 2010

The following comes from ASEC Partner, U.S. Department of Agriculture, National Institute of Food and Agriculture's, The Financial Security for All Community of Practice

This year has already seen the regulatory landscape shifting with the passage of new health care reform by Congress. As many of us communicate with our stakeholders and consumers, we are receiving more and more questions from all avenues about how health care reform may affect families. In order to dispel the myths and the clarify the concerns; we have sought out one of our national policy experts to come share her views on the new reform. Dr. Braun will discuss community economic impacts of healthcare change and personal and family financial implications of new healthcare policies with special emphasis on how health literacy and financial literacy are intricately linked.

Please join us for a webinar. The webinar will be interactive. Participants will be able to have audio interactivity, assuming they have the technological capability. Participants can also ask questions and make comments using the embedded Chat feature. Dr. Braun's presentation will have both audio and visual components, so those attending will need speakers and a broadband connection.

When: June 17th from 11AM (ET) to 12:30 PM (ET)

Where: You can access the webinar at <http://connect.extension.iastate.edu/managingmoney>

If you are unable to attend, the webinar will be posted as soon as possible following the webinar. You may email Michael Gutter msgutter@ufl.edu to be notified when it is posted.
