AARP, ASPPA and WISER are presenting this summit to objectively review current public proposals and private products aimed at facilitating the management of income during retirement. The summit will be a forum for discussing the challenges faced by both employees preparing for retirement and their employers assisting them, how insurance and financial markets might respond to these challenges, and the options that policymakers are considering to improve the security of retirement income. Join industry experts, senior government officials, and key legislators for a discussion of these timely issues.
