Financial Literacy Round Table at St. John's University

The following comes from St. John's University in Queens, NY.

On February 22, 2010, St. John's University and the Teaching Financial Education Group convened a financial literacy roundtable held at the Peter J. Tobin School of Business in Manhattan. After an exciting discussion, an important first step was taken by providing a forum where different ideas about financial literacy education were discussed. The discussions created the groundwork for a representative group of stakeholders to take steps necessary for options to improve financial literacy education.
