Women in Finance Symposium -- March 29th

The Department of the Treasury, in partnership with The White House Council on Women and Girls, is hosting a "Women in Finance Symposium" in celebration of the 30th anniversary of National Women's History Month. Secretary Geithner, Sheila Bair, Mary Schapiro, Christina Romer, Karen G. Mills, Valerie Jarrett, Elizabeth Warren, senior Administration officials and senior business leaders will all be participants in the event. We are also pleased to announce that CNBC anchor Maria Bartiromo will moderate the Symposium's opening panel and broadcast "Closing Bell with Maria Bartiromo" live from the Treasury Department later that afternoon.

The symposium is scheduled to take place at the Treasury Department on Monday, March 29, from 10:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m. EDT. It will convene senior administration officials, private sector leaders and university presidents for a series of panel discussions and presentations to recognize the contributions of women in all economic agencies and to discuss the best means to foster success among future generations of women in the public and private finance sectors. The event will stream live, the day of the event at: <http://www.treas.gov/press/womeninfinance.shtml>

Watch Party Information

The Treasury Department also is offering the opportunity for university students and other associations around the country to participate in the symposium via webcast. In addition to providing insight about how each achieved success in the world of finance, the panelists will answer questions from women in the audience and across the country. Web participants can submit questions to womeninfinance@do.treas.gov by Friday, March 26, and gather to host "watch parties" to see their questions answered live from 10:00 to 12:00 EDT. If your university/organization would like to host a "watch party," please contact Christine.Helbing@do.treas.gov or 202-431-2349 by Wednesday, March 24, with the following information:

* The name, city and state of your organization/university

- * Point of Contact (Press Contact as well as “Watch Party” Contact)
- * Number of participants expected at the watch party
- * Additionally, please put "watch party" in the subject line
