Nominations Open for EBRI's 2014 Lillywhite Award

The nonpartisan Employee Benefit Research Institute (EBRI) has opened nominations for the 2014 Lillywhite Award, which acknowledges contributions by persons who have had distinguished careers in the investment management and employee benefits fields and whose outstanding service enhances Americans' economic security.

EBRI established the Lillywhite Award in 1992. Previous Lillywhite Award winners include Principal Financial Group CEO Larry Zimpleman, Stanford University's William F. Sharpe, Jack Ehnes, CEO of the California State Teachers' Retirement System, and Don Ezra, formerly of Russell Investment Group.

The award was named after Ray Lillywhite, a pioneer in the pension field who for decades guided state employee pension plans, and who helped found numerous professional organizations and educational programs. He retired from Alliance Capital in 1992 at age 80 after a 55-year career in the pension and investment field. Lillywhite exemplified not only excellence but also innovation in lifelong achievements, teaching, and learning.

The award will be presented during the Pensions&Investments East Coast Defined Contribution Conference in March 2015.

The nomination form for the 2014 Lillywhite Award is available online at <https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/lillywhite14>

More information about the award is available at www.ebri.org/programs/lillywhite/ A complete listing of past Lillywhite Award recipients is at www.ebri.org/programs/lillywhite/recipients.pdf

Having commemorated its 35th anniversary in 2013, the Employee Benefit Research Institute is a private, nonpartisan, nonprofit research institute based in Washington, DC, that focuses on health, savings, retirement, and economic security issues. EBRI does not lobby and does not take policy positions. The work of EBRI is made possible by funding from its members and sponsors, which include a broad range of public, private, for-profit and nonprofit organizations.
