

For Immediate Release: April 5, 2011

Contact: Tracey Young, EBRI (media relations), 202/775-6329, young@ebri.org

EBRI Articles in Wall Street Journal Benefits Supplement

WASHINGTON—Today's edition (April 5) of the Wall Street Journal contains a special supplement on employee benefits, to which the nonpartisan Employee Benefit Research Institute (EBRI) contributed two of the three articles:

- “Workers Are Waking Up to the ‘New Normal,’” by EBRI President Dallas Salisbury, commenting on the key findings of the recently released 2011 Retirement Confidence Survey. This is online at <http://bit.ly/e0WzOM>
- “A Post-Crisis Assessment of 401(k)s,” by EBRI Research Director Jack VanDerhei, online at <http://bit.ly/hQJ2aJ>

The full supplement runs on pg. B 5. Each of their articles and the full supplement are posted on the EBRI blog, online at <https://ebriorg.wordpress.com/>

###