

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: Dec. 4, 2012

CONTACT: Stephen Blakely, EBRI, 202/775-6341, blakely@ebri.org

Media Advisory:

EBRI Dec. 13 Policy Forum:
What's Next for Employment-Based Health Benefits?"

The nonpartisan Employee Benefit Research Institute (EBRI) next week will hold its 71st biannual policy forum on the topic: "'Post' Script: What's Next for Employment-Based Health Benefits?"

The forum will be held on Thursday, Dec. 13, from 9:00 a.m.–12:30 p.m. at the Henry J. Kaiser Family Foundation, 1330 G Street NW, Washington, DC 20005.

The forum will include a wide range of national experts on U.S. health policy speaking on such topics as:

- A post-election perspective on fiscal impacts from the federal budget.
- Findings from the EBRI Center for Research on Health Benefits Innovation.
- With the election over and PPACA having been judged constitutional, how will employment-based health benefits evolve between 2014 and 2018 as a result of the changes set to come?

The full agenda for the EBRI policy forum is online here: <http://bit.ly/SHjW6B>

News reporters wishing to attend this event can register online here: www.ebri.org/register/

A free live webcast of the policy forum will be provided by the International Foundation of Employee Benefit Plans, online here: <http://bit.ly/UbN4QQ>

The Employee Benefit Research Institute is a private, nonprofit research institute based in Washington, DC, that focuses on health, savings, retirement, and economic security issues. EBRI does not lobby and does not take policy positions. The work of EBRI is made possible by funding from its members and sponsors, which includes a broad range of organizations involved in benefits issues. For a full list see EBRI's Members at www.ebri.org/about/members/

###

PR 998