
Chris Hynes

Chris is the Income Advance Program Manager at the Rhino Foods Foundation, a Burlington, Vermont-based organization dedicated to promoting innovative workplace practices that enhance employee financial stability while making good business sense. In this role, Chris supports the expansion of the Income Advance program to companies and financial institutions across New England and beyond. He is deeply committed to driving impactful social change through business. Previously, Chris worked as an Employer Relations Specialist at MaineHealth, enhancing disability inclusion in the workforce. His experience also includes serving as an AmeriCorps VISTA at Emmaus Inc., a homeless shelter, and as a Regional Manager for Love Your Melon, where he advanced social impact initiatives in the Midwest. Chris holds an MBA in Sustainable Innovation from the University of Vermont and currently lives in the Portland, Maine area.

