

Beth Pattillo

Beth Pattillo has an accomplished background with both defined benefit and defined contribution plans, as well as nonqualified deferred compensation plans. As the Director for Retirement Programs at Leidos, Beth has oversight for the administration of the retirement plan for over 48,000 participants with assets over $8B. Beth has worked extensively with mergers and acquisition projects, striving to integrate, harmonize and manage multiple retirement programs, including bargained plans.

As an active member with Vanguard's Client Council, the T. Rowe Price Defined Contribution Client Advisory Board, the Council on Employee Benefits and several forums, Beth continues to challenge trends and look for opportunities to improve the industry and shape financial solutions to meet the needs of participants to and through retirement. Beth holds a Bachelor's of Science degree from North Carolina State University, and is a Certified Professional in Human Resources (SHRM-CP) through the Society for Human Resource Management, and as a Professional in Human Resources (PHR) through the HR Certification Institute.

Information about Leidos:

Leidos was founded in 1969 as Science Applications Incorporated (SAI), later renamed as Science Applications International Corporation (SAIC). In 2013, following a reorganization, a portion of SAIC split from the original organization, and the approximately remaining two-thirds of the former organization formed what is today, Leidos.

Leidos is an American defense, aviation, information technology, and biomedical research company headquartered in Reston, Virginia, that provides scientific, engineering, systems integration, and technical services under four central divisions: Civil, Defense, Health, & Intelligence. Leidos works extensively with the United States Department of Defense, the United States Department of Homeland Security, and the United States Intelligence Community, including the NSA, as well as other U.S. government civil agencies and selected commercial markets. In 2019, Leidos reported US$11.1 billion in revenue, with over 36,000 employees.